AT CONCORDIA - PSYCHOLOGIST TO DISCUSS PATIENT'S CLAIM: "LAST DEATH" 400 YRS. AGO

The claims of a leading Canadian designer that he has recovered detailed information concerning his death 400 years ago will be discussed during a lecture to be given at Concordia University's Loyola Campus.

Dr. William Swartley, founder of the International Primal Association, will speak about "Karmic Integration Through Transpersonal Consciousness" at the Vanier Auditorium (7141 Sherbrooke St. W.) on Thursday, December 9 at 8 p.m.

Dr. Swartley will discuss evidence that the unusual circumstances of the designer's "last death" caused him to "choose" his parents in his present life and continued to limit his vocational success. Slides of paintings, created by the designer and through which he was able to express this experience visually, will illustrate the lecture.

According to Dr. Swartley, the designer's "memory" was recovered during regression in Primal Integration (an approach related to Primal Therapy) and under non-authoritarian hypnosis.

Dr. Swartley has studied with Swami Swarupananda in India, Roberto Assagioli in Italy and Emma Jung in Zurich. He is also founder and director of the Center for the Whole Person, a growth centre which specializes in primal techniques.
